

HOW "BUFFALO BILL" AND GEN. MILES, OUT ON THE BAD LANDS, ARE PUTTING TOGETHER THE WORLD'S FIRST MOVING PICTURE BOOK—THE WHOLE, GREAT, THRILLING STORY OF THE RED-SKINNED INDIAN!

BY GERTRUDE M. PRICE.
PINE RIDGE, S. D., Oct. 31.—The first historical moving picture "book" in the world is being made out in the hills of South Dakota. The originator of the whole novel plan is Col. William F. Cody (Buffalo Bill), who worked out the unique idea while he lay day-dreaming way up in his home in Cody, Wyo.

The commander in charge of the work is the same commander who saw active service here 20 years ago—Maj. Gen. Commander Nelson A. Miles.

The "book" is being put together page by page by Theo W. Wharton, producer for the Essanay Film Co.

The settings of the pictures are found in a great territory of land—hundreds of miles, the larger part of South Dakota.

It will take about two months to make the pictures!

There are a thousand people working at them almost every day! It costs in the neighborhood of $2,000 a day to do it!

What will the pictures in this newest of new "books" show, in addition to the great battle of "Wounded Knee," the battle that was the final conflict between the redskins and the white men?

I have come all the way to South Dakota to find out!

In the little plainly furnished, bare-floored room at the east end of the Pine Ridge reservation, I found Gen. Miles, who has received a request from the government for the first copy of the "book."

"Here we are in the very room outside of which was acted the last great scene to be shown in the final pictures of our new publication!" said Gen. Miles.

"Out yonder on that hillside was the final review of the troops after the peace declaration and the taking of Indian hostages which marked the close of Indian hostilities in this country!"

"Now what will the pictures show?" Gen. Miles turned from me to a long list of names and then handed it to me.

This, I learned, was the general's outline of the pictures which will show the Indians of this America in their natural condition—their life, habits, occupations, devotions, amusements and sports before the palefaces mastered them.

Then there will be vivid reproductions showing the distressed conditions of the Indians, their great poverty causing dissatisfaction and hostility.

Then the nature of the pictures will begin.

The war spirit will be infused into them. There will come the great war councils, war dances and hostile demonstrations which marked the opening days of the last Indian war.

There will be the rush of the Indians to the Bad Lands just as it was made years and years ago; the arrest and death of Sitting Bull; the surrender of Hump and his warriors and the movement of the large camp of Indians toward the Pine Ridge agency to surrender!

Finally will come the surrender of the redman and the picturesque events in connection with the signing of the wars.

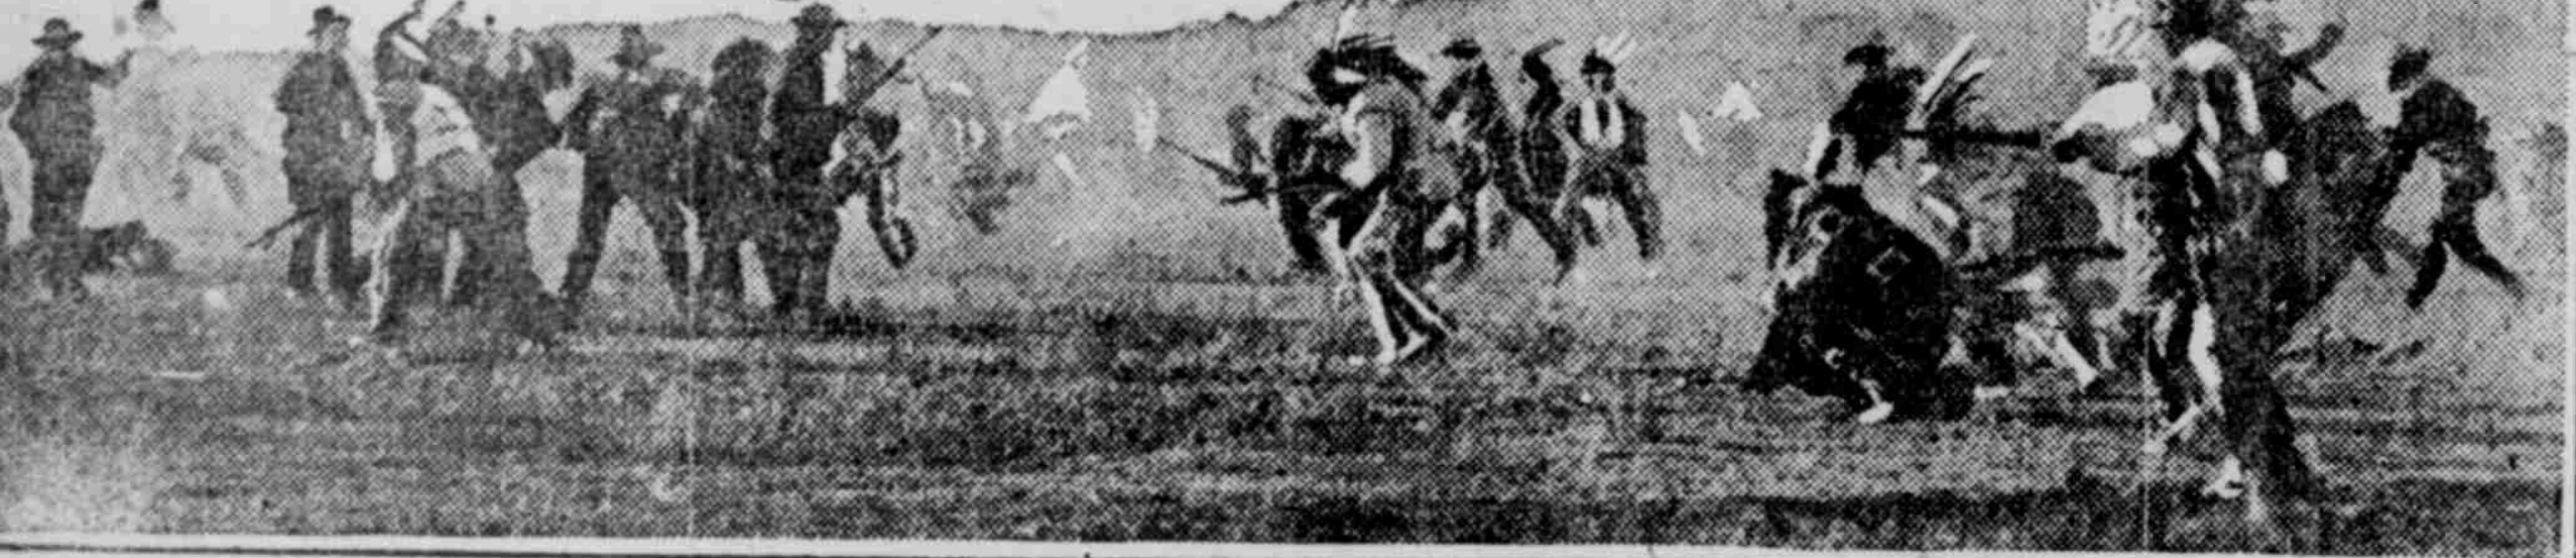

The final pictures of this new "book" will be the scenes of the Indians as they are today, living quietly in their little habitations around the government buildings on the reservation.

There is no writing in this book. And there isn't a still scene in it! It is a moving picture and it will be ready for the great and small to see about Christmas time!

AGED FARMER SHOTS WIFE, TRIES SUICIDE

PELHAM, N. H., Oct. 31.—Mrs. Ernest McCoy, 71, was found murdered in her home here Wednesday night. Her husband, a farmer, 64, was arrested after he had attempted to commit suicide.

"I shot her in a fit of anger two weeks ago," McCoy confessed, adding that domestic unhappiness caused the trouble. Mrs. McCoy had been dead for several days.
